

NORTHUMBERLAND

Bamburgh

The Northern parts of Northumberland are the most attractive in the region. This is particularly true of the area around Bamburgh, with its magnificent castle, the home of the Armstrong family, and the attractive nearby fishing port of Seahouses.

From here you can sail to the Farne Isles, home of Grace Darling for her short life. There are also Holy Island and the Priory, the cradle of Christianity in the area, as well as the pretty walled town of Berwick-on-Tweed. For this is the border country, where England meets Scotland; it's the battlefield of Flodden, and it's lots, lots, more. The list of possible visits just goes on and on....
